SUPPLEMENT TO REPORT

This pass is about one half mile long and is not a narrow defile or spectacular gorge. The approach to the pass is well graded and the road is wide enough so that two big trucks can pass without difficulty. On the west side the soil condition is made up of sandstone and the soil cover is thin. The west side has a steeper grade than the east slope which is very gradual. I do not believe such a bombing on

2. Gardan-I-Bidsurkh Pass: The road here has been paved and is the sort of place you would hardly remember as it appears to have no strategic importance. It is a road between two mountains.

3. Gardan-I-Zaqa Pass: This is a good macadam two-lane road. It is a good road and is a good road. It is a good road and is a good road. It is a good road and is a good road.

4. Chabar-Zabar Pass: This pass is between two and three miles long and the road is a black macadam two-lane road with steep walls on either side which have little caves in them. There is some scrub vegetation and a few cedar or juniper trees. The place is uninhabited. The road is very gravelly and the soil is made of limestone.
